

INFQ Testing Matrix Appendix

The below matrix shows what accreditation is available to be tested for at which tournaments through the year. The calendar of tournaments and when they are to be held in the current year can be found on the www.infq.com.au website and by selecting the calendar link from the bottom of the page.

Accreditation Levels:	How do I achieve this?	What events can I be tested at?	How many times can I be tested a year?	What does this mean for me?
In-house Level	Work with your in-house co-ordinator and they will be able to test you for this level or get a qualified tester to come and work with you in-house.	Your local netball games during the week at your INFQ member centre.	As many times as required throughout the year. These tests can be set by your in-house co-ordinator in consultation with the INFQ Umpires Director.	This is an entry level accreditation which is for you to formalise your umpiring through your local centre.
Open Superleague Endorsement	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 1 Umpires Course and then speak to your Superleague Co-ordinator about umpiring at game at your next Superleague Round.	Any INFQ Open Superleague round in either Division 1 or Division 2.	As many times as required throughout the Open Superleague Season. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	This means you can umpire any Open Superleague game in Division 1 or Division 2 including being able to nominate for the final series.
Junior Superleague Endorsement	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 1 Umpires Course and then speak to your Superleague Co-ordinator about umpiring a game at your next Junior Superleague Round.	Any INFQ Junior Superleague round in either Division 1 or Division 2.	As many times as required throughout the Junior Superleague Season. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	This means you can umpire any Junior Superleague game including being able to nominate for the final series.
Junior State 1, Junior State 2 or Junior State 3	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 2 Umpires Course. When nominations are available from the INFQ Office nominate via the Google Docs Form with your availability for Junior State Titles.	Junior State Titles events as per the INFQ Events Calendar	You may only be tested once at each Junior State Titles Event. There are normally 2 held through the year. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	These are our Junior State levels which are seen as a gateway to our Senior State Accreditation program. These levels allow you to be eligible to nominate for Junior State Nationals selection.
State Level 1	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 2 Umpires Course. When nominations are available from the INFQ Office nominate via the Google Docs Form with your availability for an INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague final series.	At any INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague Final Series.	You may only be tested once at each of these events, however there will be a number of opportunities each year depending on the number of tournaments hosted by INFQ. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	This is the entry level State accreditation which then allows you to be eligible to nominate for National selection.
State Level 2	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 2 Umpires Course. When nominations are available from the INFQ Office nominate via the Google Docs Form with your availability for an INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague final series.	At any INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague Final Series.	You may only be tested once at each of these events, however there will be a number of opportunities each year depending on the number of tournaments hosted by INFQ. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	This is the progression from your entry level accreditation which also allows you to be eligible to nominate for National selection.
State Level 3	You must have completed your Theory A Exam, and attend or plan to attend a Level 2 or Level 3 Umpires Course. When nominations are available from the INFQ Office nominate via the Google Docs Form with your availability for an INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague final series.	At any INFQ event or tournament including the Open Superleague Final Series.	You may only be tested once at each of these events, however there will be a number of opportunities each year depending on the number of tournaments hosted by INFQ. These tests will be set by the INFQ Umpires Director.	This is our highest level achievable in our accreditation however it is hoped at this level you are actively involved in developing other junior umpires progressing through the system.
